

European Control Conference (ECC 2020)

Saint Petersburg, Russia, May 12-15, 2020

European Control Conference is one of the flagship world-wide conferences on control systems and applications. Every year it attracts leading scientists and engineers from universities and industrial companies all over the world to share the recent research advances and technological breakthroughs.

In 2020 for the first time ever this top-level conference is going to be held in St. Petersburg, Russia. Its audience due to the current statistics of initial submissions is estimated of 500 scientists and engineers. We strongly believe this going to be a big scientific and engineering event in the 2020 year, that gives a unique opportunity to establish new partnerships.

If you are a Russian or international company interested in expanding the market of your products and services, we invite you to join our sponsorship programs. We believe this will help you to find new customers, further improve your products, upgrade your production lines by means of new technologies, and differentiate your services.
